CYCLING

Whole Spis with its ragged terrain and culturally and historically interesting places meets all requirements of demanding cyclists. The network of approximately 440 km marked cycle routes provides the possibility to admire natural and historical beauties of Spis region from the saddle of your bike as well as to test physical and riding skills of mountain bikers. The network will be extended gradually to make this part of Slovakia more attractive for cyclists.

We have created several cycling routes beginning at five different starting points which hopefully will not only lead you through South Spis but at the same time they will become the guideline for creating your own cycling routes.

FIELD MARKING OF CYCLE ROUTES

In the field, the cycling routes are marked with the painted letter "C", big and small signposts and additional cycle boards and signposts.

small signposts

big signposts

ROUTES CLASSIFICATION ACCORDING TO DIFFICULTY

Colouring of difficulty is not in accord with the colouring of cycling routes.

Routes classification according to difficulty:

less demanding, routes are ideal for seeing the beauties and enjoying the mountain-bike ride

more challenging routes which call for good riding skills and physical condition

challenging routes, require very good physical condition and mastery of bike ride

GUIDELINES FOR CYCLISTS

Marked cycling routes are mostly suitable for mountain bike and require:

▲ physical capability, ▲ good quality cycling equipment, ▲ ride technique, ▲ ride safety.

These basic requirements cannot be downgraded due to your health and for the sake of other participants' health and safety, as well. Marked cycle routes do not run along peculiar, odd cycle routes but along forest and field paths or public roads used by other users therefore observe following recommendations and principles:

1. choose the route in accord with your fitness, type and quality of the bike,
2. before the ride check your cycling gear and equipment (cycling helmet, spare tyre, bike pump, water bottle, map, guide, compass – recommended),
3. collective cycling activities should be reported to the relevant forest administrative units (e.g. Administration of NP Slovenský raj and Mountain rescue service Slovenský raj),
4. always follow the marked cycling routes in the forest environment to avoid losing the way and possible troubles,
5. observe the Order of Visitors in the National park,
6. you ride on your own risk along the cycling routes,
7. forest paths are used by tourists, other cyclist and cars therefore:
  - ride cautiously and considerably,
  - respect general rules for driving along the public roads.

DESCRIPTION OF CYCLE ROUTES

Described routes run along the marked cycle trails and are all two way trails.

In the guide we always choose a more acceptable and interesting direction.

We hope that everybody according to their possibilities and experience and with the help of our guide will be pleased to get the slice of action. There is also possibility to use railway connection Košice – Poprad and Margecany – Telgárt.

CLASSIFICATION ACCORDING TO SURFACE

 ASPHALT SURFACE – good quality asphalt surface - surface of the 2nd, 3rd class roads and local roads.

 REINFORCED SURFACE – poor-quality coarsely ground asphalt surface - e.g. special-purpose roads, mostly forest asphalt roads.

 MACADAM SURFACE – rough roads and paths with beaten stony and gritty base without reinforcement – e.g. some special-purpose roads, refined forest and local roadways.

 NATURAL SURFACE – rough roads and paths with natural clayey beaten surface – e.g. some field, forest and local roadways. This surface is impassable on bad weather conditions.

Challenging cycle circuit, it is advisable to schedule it as a full day cycling trip. It runs through deep valleys and meadow hills. With its diversity and picturesqueness provides a strong cyclist experiences.

The same as the cycle route to Kojšovská hoľa the cycle route begins and ends at the intersection of roads on the southwest entry into the town on the left bank of the river Hnilec at the confluence of Turzovský potok (creek) with the river Hnilec. Cross the bridge, turn right behind the bridge. The route consists of more than 26 kilometres of easy driving through the picturesque Hnilecká dolina (valley) along the main road following the red cycling mark (Hnilecká cycle arterial track) and of the more demanding about 50 kilometres along local, forest and field roads following yellow and green cycling trail. This challenging stretch of the circuit for its scenery, attractions and experiences meets, and in many cases surpasses your expectations. The start of your trek up the Hnilecká dolina (valley) is characterized by quiet, smooth ride, with possible stops at attractions, or due to rest, or to energy supplies. Pass the villages of the valley in the following order: Helcmanovce, Prakovce, Mníšek nad Hnilcom – at the intersection of state roads turn right, continue through Švedlár pass turnings on your left into the village Stará Voda and soon to Henclová. Enter the village Nálepkovalo, where you pay more attention to turning correctly, therefore follow the red cycling trail more closely. First, leave the main road ascending gently and turning to the left onto a local road and after 200 metres of gentle descent immediately after the signpost of cycling routes Nálepkovalo and behind the bridge over the Železný potok (creek), turn to the right into the yellow cycling route (8921) which starts here. Continue straight ahead, past Evangelistic Church on your right hand and followed by a small square with an open belfry with two bells GLAUBE and LIEBE. Getting to the main road turn left and continue along the road following the yellow cycling trail in the direction to Závadka. Leave the main road at the first intersection and follow the yellow mark for a few kilometres ascending up to the signpost of Závadské skalky. Enjoy panoramic views of the nearby Chapel of Virgin Mary consecrated to Passage of Saint God Mother. This site has one more point of interest – a natural monument Závadské skalky. After enriching relaxation continue following the green CTZ 5855 and after turning ascend to Závadka. The path is lined with charming original small wooden cottages. In the middle of the village cycling signpost leads on to Poráč. Continue straight on a local road and at the next junction turn right, there you start ascending for 500 meters, from the last houses, the more difficult pebbly- and drained path. „Climb“ up to contour line and enjoy perhaps the most amazing panoramic view of the Spiš area being enchanted by views of the Hornádska kotlina (basin), the High Tatras in the background, Levočské vrchy (hills), Branisko with Spišský hrad (castle), or the Slovenské Rudohorie mountain range on the left. Traversing Sosninka hill you will get to another chapel in the village consecrated to Jan Baptist from the year 1834. Riding the mountain ridge the trail ascends and descends through the alternate planes and open forest and mountain landscape. At the signpost of hiking trails Pod Holým vrchom on the left enter the woods and start descending two kilometres to the main road, cross the road and continue by customized road passing the tower of the mine Poráč on your left. After getting to the main road enter Poráč, a small village whose inhabitants who have preserved elements of folk architecture, still maintain their customs and traditions. At the first junction in the village turn right and after more than 100 meters right again. Follow the green cycling trail (5855) descending steeply to the valley of the Poráčsky potok (stream) near the Relaxsport Centre Poráč Park. Descend gently and enjoy the picturesque Poráčska dolina (vley) lined with nature reserve Červené Skaly (Red Rocks). The road surface is first reinforced later at the lodge Čierny Bocian (Black Stork) turns into penetrated. From there, descending for a while through the valley of Poráčsky potok you approach the village Slovinky. At an intersection in the village turn to the left, join the main road and descend slightly 1 kilometre to Krompachy, then once again ascend more steeply 5 kilometres along Plejsy up to the saddle beneath Krompašský kopec (hill). From there, descend more than seven kilometres through the woods along the paved path at times alternated by flatland, from Turzov on the asphalt road up to the target of circuit.
